

Chipping Campden Cotswolds, England

by

Hank Schrader

The Cotswolds

- The Cotswolds area in Gloucestershire, 25 miles wide and 90 miles long, is the quaint English Countryside that is like stepping into a real life fairy tale area of rolling hills, sheep and quaint villages.
- Here is our favorite Little English Treasure—Chipping Campden. It was a sheep market town for some of the richest Cotswold wool merchants—come visit this gem with us!

Chipping Campden Scenes from High St. Photos Anne & Hank Schrader

WW I Monument

Shops & Homes

Market Hall

Market Hall

Photos Anne Schrader

This Market Hall was built in 1627 by Sir Baptist Hicks, later Baron Hicks of Ilimington and Viscount Campden, for the sale of local produce. The Arms of Sir Baptist Hicks, and the date of erection, are carved on the outside wall. It was bought from the Noel family for the National Trust in 1942, and has since been re-roofed by the Trust in the traditional manner.

This is a stone roof held together with wooden pegs.

Town Hall
Photo Anne
Schrader

Chipping Campden Buildings

Photo Anne Schrader

St. James Church

Photo Anne Schrader

Unique Doors & Door Knockers

Photos Anne Schrader

Chipping Campden Photos Anne Schrader

Unique roofs
Chipping
Campden
Photos Anne
Schrader

Countryside Photos Anne & Hank Schrader

Hills full of Sheep

Photo Anne Schrader

Cotwold's House Outside Areas

Chipping Campden Photos Anne Schrader

Our Room, Cotswold House

Photo Anne Schrader

More of our room Photos Anne Schrader

Anne & Hank at the Eight Bells Pub

Photos Anne & Hank Schrader

Let us plan your next British Isles
Trip—call 713-397-0188 (Hank)

